

16th annual
LITERARY SOJOURN
Festival of Authors

SUBJECT: Join Andrew Sean Greer for Literary Sojourn 2008

DATE: March 18, 2008

Greetings book lovers!

Literary Sojourn's exceptional guest author list for 2008 continues to grow! We are proud to announce author Andrew Sean Greer will be presenting at 16th annual Literary Sojourn.

Andrew Sean Greer joins Literary Sojourn along with Elizabeth Strout, Karen Joy Fowler, and Nathaniel Philbrick for the annual festival of readers and authors on Saturday, September 27, 2008.

Andrew Sean Greer's newest book, The Story of a Marriage, comes out this spring. It's a story of the secrets and astonishments that come when we think we know the ones we love. Khaled Hosseini calls it, "a beautiful and moving tale of war, sacrifice, race, and motherhood." Dave Eggers says it's, "a haunting book of breathtaking beauty and restraint." And Amy Tan proclaims it, "an exquisite story with shattering realizations about love."

Greer's other works include the bestselling novel The Confessions of Max Tivoli, which John Updike hailed in The New Yorker as "enchanting, in the perfumed, dandified style of disenchantment brought to grandeur by Proust and Nabokov," plus the novel The Path of Minor Planets and a story collection How It Was for Me.

Visit the Literary Sojourn Web site for more information about Andrew Sean Greer, as well as upcoming information about the other 2008 authors and their reading lists. Look for tickets to go on sale in the spring!
